Skansen, Grona Lund and the ABBA Museum are next to each other. Skansen is the oldest open-air museum in the world. Skansen is also a zoological park. It is located on the island of Djurgården, a royal park near the centre of Stockholm.

Tivoli Grona Lund is an amusement park in the Swedish capital, Stockholm, which opened in 1883. The park offers typical amusement park attractions, including rollercoasters, rides, a house of fun, a free-fall ride, a haunted house and more. Tivoli Grona Lund has two types of tickets: Cheaper "entry" tickets that work through a couponing system with each ride, and unlimited tickets that include all rides. Great if you plan on riding a lot.

The ABBA Museum is a fantastic experience for ABBA fans and for music lovers in general.

In the late afternoon, the bus will pick up passengers downtown and at Skansen/Grona Lund and return to the hotel to pick up the hockey equipment.
